WHICH SHALL IT BE?

Janesville insists on a through line of railroad to Chicago. A road from here to Evansville will supply the needed link on the Northwestern between St. Paul to Chicago via this city. The C.M. & St. P., will build a road next from Libertyville to connect with its Madison line. It will run through Janesville if our people say so. Now is the time to begin the agitation necessary to secure the benefit of one or the other of those trunk lines. The railway which makes to our people the most liberal offer will reap the benefit of a liberal donation. Let a public meeting be called to discuss the question. Now is the time to begin.

Mr. Vanderbilt's annual income is ten million dollars.

The Madison Democrat is getting frightened early in the campaign. It is afraid the Republicans will wave the "bloody shirt" during the fall canvass. It should not borrow trouble; the Democrats will be beaten without it.

The longest Congressional convention ever held in this country was that of the Fourteenth Ohio district in which 536 ballots were taken. The choice at last fell upon Mr. E. H. Horr, who is now a State Senator. He is a twin brother of Congressman Horr, of Michigan, and they resemble each other so much in form and features that it is difficult to distinguish one from the other.

They do things differently in Scotland than in this country when they want to raise a subscription for a public man. Seven years ago when the author of "Rob and His Friends"—Dr. John Brown—became unable to write from sickness, his friends raised a sum of money for him amounting to $30,000 without publicity, and he knew nothing of it until the amount was placed in his hands and the names of the contributors thrown into the fire.

The Sisley murder examination is still going on at Lancaster, and it is hoped that the husband of the murdered wife will be held for trial. There does not seem to be any doubt as to his guilt. He married her on Monday the 12th of June, and went to the house of Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton to live, both couples occupying an upper room for sleeping apartments on account of the house being small, the beds being separated by a curtain. On Tuesday night, the day after they were married, Sisley put a pistol under his pillow pretending to prepare himself for a charitable party. The next morning Sisley says when he woke up he missed his wife. He supposed she got up to make a fire, but after he dressed and went down stairs, she was not there, and presuming she was out doors somewhere, made the fire himself. The bride not returning for breakfast, search was made for her, and her body was found nearly a hundred yards from the house, she lying on her back, the body dressed, two bullet holes through her person, and two others grazing the body, the hands lying across the abdomen, and the pistol by her side. The husband and the Hamiltons say she committed suicide, but this will not be generally believed. How she could get out of bed, without being heard, dress herself, take the pistol from under the husband's pillow, go out in the woods, shoot herself four times, and die, and then place her hands across her abdomen, are questions which Sisley and the Hamiltons cannot explain. Justice and common sense assert that the bride of thirty-six hours was murdered by her own husband.

EX-GOVERNOR WASHBURN'S WILL.

The will of the late C. C. Washburn has been filed in the office of the probate court of La Crosse county. It is a remarkable document. In it his colossal fortune is disposed of with the same care and wisdom, which were displayed in all his business transactions. From the careful manner in which it was drawn, and the ability and justice which mark every line of that long instrument will be a complete bar to law suits growing out of the will. In the first place he remembered his unfortunate wife who became insane not long after they were married more than thirty years ago, and who has been in an insane asylum in New York for many years. He desired that no expense should be spared in providing for her comfort and physical health, and he placed no limit upon the sums which his executors were authorized to spend for that purpose. To each of his two daughters—his only children—Jeannette, wife of Albert W. Kelsey, and Fanny, wife of Charles Payson, of Washington, he gave a residence which shall cost not more than $80,000. Each of them also shall receive $7,000 annually from one trust fund, $10,000 annually for five years from his mills at Minneapolis, $15,000 each annually for the five years next following, after which the entire not annual income shall be divided among them.

He also gave $5,000 annually for five years to his private secretary, and from $1,000 to $2,000 annually for five years to each of his nephews and nieces. To his brother Israel, who is not rich, he gave $9,000, and to all his children $1,000 a year for five years. His brothers Edwin B., and William D., have ample means of their own, but he gave some members of their families $1,000 or $2,000 each, "as a matter of compliment and not because they are needed."

The magnificent bequest in the will was $375,000 to establish the Washburn Memorial Orphan Asylum, at Minneapolis, which he desired should be opened to any child under fourteen years of age, whether orphan or half orphan, and "no distinction shall be observed as to sex, color, race, or religion. He also gave $50,000 for the establishment of a library at La Crosse, of which $17,500 should be expended in books, $2,500 for a site, and $20,000 for a building. All the trust funds from which the annual payments to his daughters and his relatives shall be paid, are in the hands of the Philadelphia Fidelity Insurance, Trust and Safe Deposit company, and Mr. Washburn provided in his will that after five years from his death, the great flour mills B and C of Minneapolis, shall be transferred to the Fidelity Insurance, Trust and Safe Deposit company, to hold the same in trust for the benefit of his two daughters.

The will was executed at the St. George hotel, Philadelphia, on the 31st of December, 1831, and Gilbert Van Steen Wyk, of La Crosse, Charles Payson, of Washington, and Charles J. Martin, of Minneapolis, are appointed his executors, and as a tribute to them he provided that they shall not give any bonds.

WAR IN EGYPT.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.
ALEXANDRIA, July 10.—Bombardment will begin at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning. Seventeen more guns were placed in position menacing the British fleet. Admiral Nicholson, of the American fleet, sent word ashore that if any of his vessels were hit, he would return the fire.

SHOT DEAD.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.
CHICAGO, July 10.—Charles Stiles, a well known Board of Trade man, and the lightning "caller" of the Call Board, was shot dead this morning in his room at the Palmer house, by his mistress, calling herself Madeline Stiles. They went riding last night, and quarreled. He left her to make her way home through the rain. She went to his room at the Palmer house this morning, and renewed the quarrel, when she shot him through the heart. She is locked up at the armory, and tells the usual story of wrong, dishonor, cruelty and desertion.

ON THE WARPATH.

NEW YORK, July 9.—The Herald's Ft. Bowie, A. T., special says the Indians are again on the warpath, committing depredations around the San Carlos reservation, at McMillenville. They killed the chief scout and two men on the reservation the day before yesterday. The following letter was received at Globe City, by G. W. Pearson:

"McMILLENVILLE, A. T., July 8.—We have had a hard time. The place was attacked by forty Indians yesterday morning, and the stock nearly run off. Frank Ross was so badly wounded. We cannot see the end yet. If a good company of rangers were here they might punish them severely, but we cannot do anymore than to keep them at bay, if we can do that, as there are scarcely enough of us to take care of the women and children. The boys deserve a great deal of credit for the gallant reception they gave them. There were some close battles, but Ross was the only one injured. A number of cattle were killed right in sight of the house. We have to shoot the heathen just as fast as they come in sight." J. S. SMITH.

The public lacks not a genuine remedy for skin diseases in Glenn's Sulphur Soap. "Hill's Hair Dye," black or brown, fifty cents.

Visible Improvement.

Mr. Noah Bates, Elmira, N. Y., writes: "About four years ago I had an attack of bilious fever, and never fully recovered. My digestive organs were weakened and I would be completely prostrated for days. After using two bottles of your Backlog Blood Bitters the improvement was so visible that I was astonished. I am now, though 61 years of age, do a fair and reasonable day's work." Price $1.00.

TALKED TO DEATH.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The Hennepin canal, a project in which Wisconsin has some interest, was virtually killed in the Senate this afternoon. There is good reason to believe that Logan should have accepted the advice of Mr. Sawyer and said as little as possible about the canal. He disregarded the advice and made a three hours speech on it. It occurred to the other senators that there were suspicious about a measure that needed so lengthy a defense, and the more it was debated the stronger the opposition grew. The canal project was talked to death.

Senator Sawyer says that at the start there were votes enough to carry it through, but Logan talked too much. The Butler amendment practically postponed the work for another year. It provides for observations and surveys, together with a detailed statement of the estimated cost of the canal, to be reported to Congress at the next session. An appropriation of $100,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is made available for the surveys and observations. No authority is conferred for commencing any part of the work of digging the canal. Senators Sawyer and Cameron have supported the proposition, and were in favor of inaugurating the work at once. They voted against the Butler amendment.

THE NARROW PREJUDICE.—Which a few people hold against a patent medicine only because its formula isn't written in Latin which they can't read, is narrow-minded, and not in keeping with the progress of the age. Zorax will cure every case of Dyspepsia and Biliousness if the directions are followed. Sold by Prentice & Evenson.

BEER AND BLOOD.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 9.—At five o'clock this afternoon James Hawks, a laborer, killed his wife. Mrs. Hawks had purchased a pair of beer in a saloon, and was returning home when she met her husband, who was intoxicated. Hawks whipped out a jack-knife, and without a word stabbed his wife to the heart. He threw the knife away, and staggered up the street. Hawks was informed that his wife was dead exclaimed, "I am glad of it. It is a good thing for me."

THE BEST TIME.

ROCHESTER, July 8.—Miss Myrtle Peck, of Michigan, aged 14, rode on the Rochester Driving Park to-day twenty miles in forty-three minutes twenty-four and a half seconds, beating the best recorded time by two minutes. She rode seven horses, none of them considered fast, and two or three considered slow. The time was taken by reliable parties.

THE ASTONISHINGLY.—Short time it takes Zorax to act upon the Digestive organs and the Liver, proves its affinity to the stomach. The first dose relieves. A sample bottle convinces, a large bottle cures. Sold by Prentice & Evenson.

A SIXTY-DAY FAST.

WABASH, Ind., July 9.—Living south of this city is a young woman who has eaten nothing for sixty days past. About three months ago she began to fail, and in a short time she refused all the food that was offered her. Two years ago she went a month without eating anything, and suddenly her desire for food returned. She has been remarkably healthy until this attack. The physicians who attended her say she has kept her alive by injections, but that unless her appetite manifests itself very soon she can do nothing for her. Her strength is gradually leaving her and she is wasted away until nothing but skin and bone is left. She earnestly requests that her name be kept out of the papers, and on account of her delicate condition it is not deemed advisable to publish it. Her case is very remarkable, and awakens much interest here.

Rob It In.

Jacob Lockman, 274 Clinton street, Buffalo, N. Y., says he has been using Thomas' Electric Oil for rheumatism. He had such a lame back that he could do nothing; but one bottle entirely cured him.

CHAUTAUQUA MEETINGS.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., July 9.—The Chautauqua meetings were inaugurated yesterday by opening Teachers' Retreat and the school for languages. The number of students was double that of any other year at openings. Rev. D. J. H. Vincent made the address. Two grand concerts followed, attended by large audiences. A new and large chorus organ in the amphitheater was used for the first time. In the afternoon Rev. W. T. Harris delivered a lecture. In the evening there was a reception of professors and students at Teachers' Retreat. The meetings will continue three weeks, with daily lectures. August 1 the Chautauqua assembly will open its ninth year, continuing until the 21st. The large hotel has been completed and other public buildings erected.

DISPENSIA OF LONG STANDING.—Don't allow prejudice to prevent a trial of Zorax for health—that argues want of judgment. A few doses will surprise you. See what Mrs. Forbes (Hillsburg, Ont., says.—Sold by Prentice & Evenson.

MYSTERIOUS.

WABASH, July 9.—Stephen Upham, an elderly and feeble gentleman of this city, went to Milwaukee some days ago on business, and has not since been heard from. Messages of inquiry addressed to the Milwaukee police headquarters fail to elicit any information, and his friends fear that some fatal accident has befallen him.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

A Story of Parisian Life—Two Gentlemen of Verona—Life of Carlyle, A. MERE CAPRICE. By Mary Healy (Jeanne Marie), Chicago. Jansen, McClurg & Co., publishers. Price, cloth, $1.25.

The author of this interesting story of Parisian life is the daughter of the well-known portrait painter of Chicago—Mr. G. P. A. Healy. She has resided in Paris for some time, and is not unfamiliar with social and artist life in the French capital. The plot is told in a few words: The heroine is a young girl named Marce, whose beauty and misfortunes render her story a peculiarly interesting one. Born in obscurity, of unknown parentage, she is adopted, while an infant, by Baroness Olga, a beautiful Russian adventurer, who has married a wealthy Parisian banker, and is cordially loved and fostered by all her relatives. The Baroness's husband soon dies, leaving her a large fortune, but no children of her own; and she educates the foundling, and brings her up in luxury, concealing from her her humble origin. In a moment of jealous fury, the godmother reveals to Marce her birth and drives the unfortunate girl into the street. Marce's trials and unraveling struggles are told with a pathos which elicits the sympathies of the reader, but he is neither surprised or shocked when the wretched girl seeks the river to end her troubles and her life in its lethargic waters. For sale by Jansen, Sutherland & Sons, Janesville.

ROLFE'S SHAKESPEARE. Professor Rolfe has issued a play of Shakespeare, the "Two Gentlemen of Verona," which is uniform in size and binding with the previous volumes of the same author. These volumes are the most popular of any of the Shakespearian plays published in this country, and have met with an immense sale. Price 70 cents, cloth.

For sale by Jansen, McClurg & Co., Chicago, and by the Janesville local trade.

THOMAS CARLYLE. By James A. Froude. New York: Harper & Brothers, Chicago: Jansen, McClurg & Co. Price $1.25.

This is a history of the first forty years of the life of Carlyle, and is accompanied by portraits and other illustrations. In his will Mr. Carlyle expressed a wish that no biography of him should be printed, and his literary friends were inclined to respect that wish; but two years after his will was made, he learned that whether he wished it or not, his life, and probably many lives, of himself would be written and printed after his death. When he discovered that these lives would appear, and he could not possibly escape being written up, he desired that whatever was written should be as accurate as possible, and therefore many of his letters and other material has been placed in the hands of Mr. Froude, and the result is the volume before us. While it is composed much of letters, it is as much else in it that will be found interesting and profitable, and will be regarded as the standard life of Carlyle.

For sale by Jansen, McClurg & Co., Chicago, and by the local trade in Janesville.

Miss Cary's Father and Husband.

Dr. Nelson H. Cary, the father of Annie Louise Cary, had a musical family. Joseph Cary, his oldest son, was a fine bass singer, and married a musician, Flora Barry, at one time a well-known opera singer; William Cary, the second son, was a good singer; Marcia Cary, now Mrs. J. C. Merrill, of Portland, the next youngest child, was supposed to possess a richer contralto than her youngest sister, Annie. The next daughter, Ellen Cary, was the only soprano singer in the family. Then there came Samuel Cary, who had a good bass voice. With the musical qualities of the voice of the next younger child, Annie Louise Cary, the public is well acquainted. The youngest child, Ada Cary, is about to become a professional singer. Mr. C. M. Raymond, who married Annie Louise Cary, is a well known Wall street broker, having his office at 74 Broadway. He came to New York from Norwalk, Conn., where his family resides. For some years he was senior member of the firm of Raymond, Saxon & Rogers. He was one of the founders of the Stock Exchange. It is said by the friends of Mr. Raymond that he and Miss Cary have been engaged for years; in fact since her girlhood. Mr. Raymond was a bachelor, is of middle age, and a leading member of the Manhattan Club.
